WHERE THEORY MEETS PRACTICE

IIEBM – Indus Business School, in association with Govind Milk & Milk Products Pvt. Ltd., continues to create valuable opportunities for experiential learning.

Recently, students from IIEBM's 27th PGDM Batch (2026–28) assisted the Govind Milk team at the India International Mega Trade Fair (IIMTF) and Utsav Expo, Pune. This engagement offered

THE SPIRIT OF SARAGARHI: VALOUR, DISCIPLINE AND CAMARADERIE

IIEBM – Indus Business School commemorated the 129th Saragarhi Day on campus, paying homage to the 21 brave Sikh soldiers of the 36th Sikh Regiment of the Bengal Infantry of the British Indian Army, who made the ultimate sacrifice while defending Saragarhi on 12 September 1897.

Their extraordinary stand against overwhelming odds remains an enduring symbol of courage, duty, honour and sacrifice. The Battle of Saragarhi continues to inspire generations with its timeless message of unwavering resolve, camaraderie and commitment to duty.

At IIEBM, where discipline, integrity and the Armed Forces ethos form an integral part of our institutional culture, the commemoration served as a poignant reminder of the valour and selflessness that define true leadership.

TO THE LAST MAN AND THE LAST ROUND.

FROM THE BATTLEFIELD TO OUR CAMPUS: A LIVING LEGACY

On the occasion of the 200th Gunners' Day, IIEBM – Indus Business School pays tribute to the courage, dedication and sacrifices of the officers, veterans and families of the Regiment of Artillery.

IIEBM takes immense pride in housing the Indian Army's 122 mm GRAD BM-21 Multiple Rocket Launcher as a war trophy on campus. With its 40 launch tubes, this Soviet-origin artillery system represents a significant chapter in modern artillery history, including its role during the 1999 Kargil War.

For IIEBM, this war trophy is far more than a display of military equipment. It stands as a lasting symbol of precision, courage, sacrifice and the indomitable spirit of the Gunners. Its presence serves as a daily reminder of their distinguished service to the Nation and the values of discipline and duty that continue to inspire generations.

On this historic milestone, we salute the Gunners, past and present, and honour their enduring legacy of valour, honour and service to the Nation.
